1 EV electric service charges: Your EV electric service charges are made up of FPL EVolution Home base rates for off-peak and on-peak energy, the non-fuel charge and the fuel charge.

a. Base rates: A lower rate of 2.016¢/kWh applies during off-peak hours, and a rate of 22.583¢/kWh applies during on-peak hours.

b. Non-fuel charge: An additional 1.961¢/kWh applies during both off-peak and on-peak hours. These charges include the costs other than fuel to produce and deliver electricity, including operating power plants and maintaining the grid.

c. Fuel charge: A rate of 3.104¢/kWh applies during off-peak hours, and a rate of 3.428¢/kWh applies during on-peak hours. These charges include the cost for fuel required to provide each kWh of electricity. FPL makes no profit on fuel costs.

2 FPL EVolution Home charge: The recurring cost of providing the program, including your charger, installation and maintenance, will appear as $36.00 for the full installation option, or $27.00 for the equipment-only option.

3 EV rate summary: This section shows the rates used to calculate your EV electric service charges. These are the same rates shown in the “Bill Details” section, but they are grouped differently:

a. EV Non-Fuel Energy Charge: This combines the base rate and non-fuel charge into a single rate for each charging period — 24.544¢/kWh for on-peak usage and 3.977¢/kWh for off-peak usage. Visit FPL.com/Rates to learn more about what this charge includes.

b. EV Fuel Charge: This shows the fuel rate for on-peak and off-peak usage.

4 Meter summary: In the “Meter Summary” section, you can track the amount of off-peak and on peak kWh utilized for EV charging, separate from the electricity used in the rest of your home. We track this through your Wi-Fi connection and exclude EV kWh used from your total residential kWh used.

a. Wi-Fi connection: Losing Wi-Fi connectivity could lead to billing inaccuracies. It’s important to keep your push notifications on and resolve any Wi-Fi connectivity issues promptly on the FPL EVolution app to ensure accurate billing.
